HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Commencement Speaker

Amy Shuler Goodwin
Mayor
Charleston, West Virginia
Honorary Doctor of Laws

You once said the best advice you ever received was to make sure any room where you will be making a decision is filled with a diverse group of people, to listen more than you talk, and never let anyone outwork you.

You became Charleston's first female mayor on November 7, 2018, with priorities that included fiscal accountability, transparent and efficient processes, fairness, people-focused solutions, and forward-thinking policies and programming.

You established the first Charleston Youth Council, Charleston LGBTQ Working Group, and Charleston Council for Outreach and Empowerment (C-COre) to engage individuals from diverse backgrounds. You also established the Coordinated Addiction Response Effort (CARE) to address the impact of substance use disorder on our community.

You've said that every action your administration takes begins with the question: "How will this make Charleston a place where folks want to visit and/or want to live, work, and raise families?"

From paving roads to improving city parks and recreation centers, to increasing recreational programs – even overseeing the return of the Regatta – you have worked to make Charleston that place.

You have been a great partner to UC, supporting our annual Labor of Love Days, renovating shared facilities such as the UC soccer field, and establishing the UC Downtown Innovation Hub.

A native of Wheeling, you graduated from West Virginia University with a degree in journalism and a minor in political science. You have owned and managed a public relations firm, been a TV anchor and reporter, and taught at both WVU and the University of Charleston.

Prior to becoming mayor, you served as the Deputy Secretary of Commerce and Commissioner of Tourism for the State of West Virginia, and as Communications Director for several mayors, a congressman, and a presidential candidate.

You are married to Booth Goodwin and are the mother of two sons – Joe and Sam – as well as a Lab-St. Bernard rescue dog named Gus.

For your continued and passionate dedication to the City of Charleston and those who live, work, visit and play here, as well as your commitment to creating a better city for all, the University of Charleston is honored to present the Doctor of Laws degree, honoris causa, to you, Mayor Amy Shuler Goodwin.
