

Thomas W Orcutt is the President of Mullen Plumbing, Heating & Cooling. Tom grew up in South Charleston, WV. He graduated at the University of Charleston in 2000 with a BA in Business Administration after an outstanding basketball career. After working in the family business since elementary school, he transitioned into the family business leadership after graduation. He has held positions in the accounting, operations, and scheduling functions that opened his eyes to build his career within the company. As the needs of the company changed and succession planning was discussed, his passion for taking the business to the next step was very evident.

In 2008 he moved into the presidency after evolving through positions as Service Manager and General Manager, while helping define the future direction of the organization. Part of the overall business growth beyond the core business includes an extensive real estate holding company portfolio.

The future of these family enterprises is in a great position to continually transition to future generation within the family.
